MEMORIES OF VIRGINIA AS IT USED TO BE are brought to mind when looking at the photo above.

The picture was taken recently when Mr. Oscar Bryant brought his mules over to his neighbor and pastor, Rev. Hoyt O. Tench, to plow his garden. Mr. Bryant is 82 years old and has spent his life (except for the time he was serving his country in World War I) working on the farm and is his blacksmith shop that was opened by his father, William J. Bryant, 101 years ago in 1874.

Lung Assoc. Schedules Education Programs For Oct.

Miss Anna Dickhoff, president of the Virginia Lung Association's Central Region in Farmville, announced recently that her organization will conduct five educational programs on lung diseases for patients and their families during October.

Aimed at helping lung disease patients and their families to understand and live with their affliction, the program will be led by area physicians in the auditorium of the Virginia Baptist Hospital in Lynchburg. Respiratory therapists, nurses, and dieticians, and a representative of the Va. Department of Vocational Rehabilitation will also be included in the faculty.

The first of the five programs will be held on Thurs., Oct. 2, at 7:30 p.m. with Mr. David G. Powell, associate professor of biology at Central Virginia Community College, discussing how the lungs work.

Dr. Peter Houck, pediatrician, will speak on chronic obstructive pulmonary disease at the second session on Thurs., Oct. 9, at 7:30 p.m.

On Thurs., Oct. 16, also at 7:30 p.m. Dr. William H. Barney, internist, will describe living with lung disease. Ms. Sue Daughtry, dietician, and Leonard E. Buchanan, respiratory therapist, both of Virginia Baptist Hospital and Mrs. Jean Johnson, respiratory therapist at Lynchburg General Hospital will hold a panel discussion on the subject.

The fourth program, "What You Can Do About Breathing", on Thurs., Oct. 23, at 7:30 p.m., will be led by Dr. Donald Branson, family practitioner. Assisting Dr. Branson will be Ms. Vicki Reagon, respiratory therapist at Virginia Baptist Hospital, and Mrs. Nancy Bennett, respiratory therapist at the Pulmonary Rehabilitation Center in Forest.

Representatives of the Community Resources and Services will talk about the services their agencies offer for the lung disease patients at the meeting on Thurs., Oct. 30, at 7:30 p.m. Among those participating on the program will be Mrs. Elizabeth Crandall, supervisor of the Respiratory Therapy Dept. at Lynchburg General Hospital and Mr. John Strickland of the Va. Dept. of Vocational Rehabilitation.

For further information, please call the Information and Referral Center of Central Va. at 845-8016.

ENERGY SAVING TIPS FOR THE WEEK

Try banking by mail. You'll save time and gasoline - especially if you've been using the drive-in teller.

This fall prepare for next summer's heat by planting shade trees on the south and west sides of your home. They will provide protection and shade against the sun.

Partial load cycles, rinse only, mid-cycle turnoff, and other special features of washers are designed for energy conservation as well as convenience.

Use proper defrosting methods for manual refrigerator/freezers. These applicances consume less energy than those that defrost automatically, but they must be defrosted frequently and as quickly as possible to maintain that edge. Frost should never be allowed to build up to more than one-quarter of an inch.

When working in the garden or workshop, remember to use hand tools, pruners and clippers in place of powered equipment whenever possible.

Morris E. Campbell

Elon Church To Have Homecoming
